

Kristen Lee
photography

6 Uses For Your Engagement Photos

SAVE THE DATES

One of the more popular uses for your engagement photos is for your Save the Dates. Your photographer can create a custom design or you can create one yourself with a template online.

INVITATIONS

You can also incorporate your engagement photos into your invitations. There are many components to your invitation. From the actual invitations, the RSVP, menu cards, directions and hotel accommodations lists to the envelopes, address labels, and the stamps. There are so many places to use your engagement photos to give your invitations a personal touch, making them really stand out.

GUESTBOOK

A customized guest book brings your guest book from a traditional list of names, to a photo journal where your guests can write messages to you along side beautiful images, creating a truly interactive story book. You can also design a framed collage of images, or you use your favorite image as your guests sign the sides to create a magnificent piece to display in your home.

WALL ART FOR YOUR HOME

Your engagement photos were taken for more than just fun. Show them off! Frame them, decorate your walls, put them on your desk at work. Let them bring a smile to your face as you look up at them every day.

DISPLAY AT YOUR WEDDING

There are many ways to display your engagement photos at your wedding. You can have large prints made to line the walls of your reception venue. You can frame a few of your favorites to decorate your guest book table, or even use them as Table Numbers for the tables at your reception.

SOCIAL MEDIA IMAGES

Who doesn't love showing off photos on their favorite social media platforms?! Set them as your profile or cover images, create an album of your gorgeous images and watch the likes come rolling in!

BONUS

Engagement Sessions are the perfect way to see how your photographer works and get a glimpse into what to expect on your wedding day! And have a lot of fun too!